

MURDER MOST FOUL!

"The Atonement of Blood"

Mormon Law & Order

We are called upon this morning to chronicle one of the most cold blooded and inhuman murders that has ever fallen under our notice—unparalleled even in the bloody record of Utah's foulest crimes. The victim of this last exhibition of the hellish doctrine of "blood atonement" promulgated by these fanatics of hell from the pulpit of their Tabernacle, was a young man, a resident of Austin, Nevada, by business a freighter, and aged about 30 years. The circumstances which led to his murder are briefly as follows:

On the evening of the 27th ult. Mr. Brassfield was married by Judge McCurdy, of the Supreme Court, to Mary, second wife of A. N. Hill, a Mormon missionary now in Europe. A short time after the marriage, Brassfield went with his wife to her late residence to get her clothing and household goods which had been packed up ready for removal. While there he was arrested by the city police, charged with resisting an officer, and lodged all night in the county jail. The next morning he was taken before the Probate Court to answer the charge and bound over in the sum of five hundred dollars to await the action of the Grand Jury. The next day two indictments were brought against him, one on the charge above named, and the other for larceny for being present and assisting in taking away his wife's goods and clothing. He gave bail in the sum of one thousand dollars. On Monday last his counsel, Major C. H. Hempstead, quashed the indictment for resisting an officer, and proceeded to trial on the charge of larceny. The trial was not concluded when the Court adjourned on Monday, and was to have been continued on the following day.

The wife had two children, one nine and the other five years of age. About three children a contest was evident—Mrs. Brassfield claiming them, and the friends of Hill determined to keep them from her. The mother obtained a writ of Habeas Corpus from Judge McCurdy, and the Hill party from the Probate Court, each claiming the right to the custody of the children. The writ of Judge McCurdy was first executed, and a hearing held by him last Saturday night. Maj. Hempstead argued the case for the petitioner, and claimed that Mrs. Hill had a wife living at the time of her alleged marriage with Mrs. Brassfield, it was illegal and void, and that, as there was no legal father, the mother was entitled to the custody of the minor children. Thus the legality of Polygamist marriages was made a direct issue in the case. Judge Snow appeared against the petitioner and in the capacity of Deputy Attorney General of the Territory, and desired further time to prepare the case of the defendant, and the hearing was continued until Monday evening at 7 o'clock.

At that hour the house was crowded with the friends of both parties being present in large numbers. After a few preliminary remarks and the filing of some papers, by Judge Snow, the hearing was again adjourned until Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. The children in the mean time had been committed to the custody of the U. S. Marshal Hooper, until further orders of the Court, and on Monday the writ from the Probate Court was served on him, when he appeared before Judge Smith and stated that he held the children by order of Judge McCurdy, and declined to produce them in that Court when he was threatened with an attachment for contempt, and waived that unless he produced the children he would be imprisoned in the County Jail. The Probate Court of Salt Lake, imprisoning a United States Marshal for obeying an order of the Supreme Court. Our readers can make their own comments.

Thus stood the several phases of the case at the adjournment of Judge McCurdy's Court on Monday evening. The Court adjourned at about 8 1/2 o'clock, and on his way home, and while in company with the U. S. Marshal Hooper, Mr. Brassfield was shot and killed; adding another to the long list of victims of Mormon law.

STATEMENT OF MARSHAL HOOPER

About 8 1/2 o'clock on Monday evening the 2d inst. I was accompanying Mr. Brassfield home to the National Hotel, from Independence Hall. As we turned a corner by the small building west of the hotel, a man who stood between the building and the street, and who had advanced one step from the corner and was at Mr. Brassfield, shot taking effect in his arm and side, four buck shot entering the side, one striking the elbow joint and breaking the arm. The fifth shot, which was much larger than the others, entered the side. When the gun was fired Mr. Brassfield fell and his body lay on the ground. He was carried into the International Hotel, where he lay for some time, but he died. The man who shot him was seen by the marshal and turned the corner by the theater, continued in a northerly direction. As he passed the St. Charles Restaurant, he was fired at twice by a Policeman. I lost sight of him as he turned the corner of the theater.

THE FEELING AMONG THE PEOPLE

It would be useless to deny the fact that the opinion of the Gentile community of this city, the killing of Mr. Brassfield was a deliberately planned attempt, conceived and carried by men high in authority in the Mormon Church. It is a reminder of the days that were, and a foretaste of what will be again "when the troops are removed." The community is struck dumb at the appalling audacity of the affair. Men say but little, but the lowering brows and compressed lips everywhere visible, bespeak a rising storm which, when it bursts, will be very hard to control. Let these hell-hounds beware!

LATER—We have just learned that on the morning of the 3d inst. Judge Smith, as the defendant, Brassfield, (in the larceny case), had deceased, the case would be discontinued. Major Hempstead moved that, inasmuch as the charge of larceny was merely technical, the whole proceedings be stricken from the record, in justice to the memory of the deceased. The Court took the motion under advisement.

Conservation of the Synagogue at San Francisco.

A large congregation attended the conservation services of the Synagogue at San Francisco, on Sunday evening, yesterday afternoon. A full programme of which was published with an extended notice of the building itself, was published in last evening's Bulletin. The programme, as printed, was fulfilled to the satisfaction of those present. The singing by the choir and the music from the organ, by Professor Harpold, were both well executed. After the voluntary and solo, the vast congregation arose to their feet, the doors leading into the vestibule were thrown open, and a procession of the officers and members of the congregation, including the Building Committee, headed by the Rabbi, Dr. Cohn, and the President, L. Sachs, entered the audience room and proceeded to the altar. The rabbi, Dr. Cohn, read the scrolls containing the books of Moses written on parchment, and covered with costly material, bearing Hebrew characters, which they deposited on the altar. The organ music, and the choir and congregation, singing the appropriate service. The scrolls were subsequently placed in the ark by the rabbi and reader. Immediately preceding this procession, however, was a case of children of both sexes, numbering about 100, and nearly all of uniform size. The boys were clad very neatly and with great uniformity, and wore white socks on their left legs, and white shoes on their right, and blue sashes thrown across their left shoulders, decorated with silver. Each bore a bouquet of flowers, and wreaths of white roses crowned their heads. Altogether, it was a very pretty sight. Reaching the altar, they separated to the sides of the synagogue, where seats were in reserve for them. The doors leading from the vestibule to the auditorium, and the pillars supporting the vaulted gallery were handsomely decorated with evergreens and white flowers. Two magnificent urns on the pulpit were also filled with flowers. As darkness came on the synagogue was brilliantly illuminated. The sermon of Dr. Cohn was able, liberal and loyal. He wished it to be ever distinctly understood that while in religious matters they were Israelites and worshipped the God of their fathers according to the tenets of the Hebrew faith, in all other matters they were friends, neighbors and citizens, and joined in whatever concerned the good of the country, or of the commonwealth, or of the community in which they dwelt, and likewise mourned in communion with others over any National or State calamity which befell the American people. This part of the sermon set forth in strong language the loyalty of the Hebrew residents of this country to the Government of the United States. Honorable mention was made in the discourse to the officers of the congregation and all others who have been engaged in the construction of the Synagogue. A beautiful tribute was paid to the deceased chairman of the Building Committee. The services altogether occupied upwards of two hours, and were followed by the regular Sabbath services of the congregation. There was a fair representation of the members of the other Synagogues of the city present, together with Dr. Henry, who occupied a position with the readers, also several of the city clergy, civil and military officers of the city and county, members of the press, etc. The services will long be remembered by this Hebrew Society, who may well be proud of their Synagogue. —S. F. Bulletin, 24th ult.

ARMY ORDERS.—General McDowell has issued the following orders: Company H, Second Cavalry, California Volunteers, will be sent by steamer to the Presidio of San Francisco for muster out and discharge. Should any of the men of this company desire it, and so indicate in writing to the commanding officer at that post, they will be mustered out and discharged at Drum Barracks. The muster out of a company from the Second California Volunteer Cavalry, and one from the Seventh California Volunteer Infantry, reducing these regiments below full strength, the field and staff will be reduced, and mustered out as directed by General Order No. 182, series of 1903, from the War Department. The company of Second California Volunteer Cavalry at Manila will march immediately after the receipt hereof, to Sacramento, California, there to be mustered out of service. The want of troops makes it necessary to absorb the present company of the Second California Volunteer Cavalry, and the Quartermaster's Department will take the necessary steps to secure the public property that may remain there after the company marches away.

THE SPIRIT OF ASSASSINATION

From time to time during the past nineteen years, the people have been afflicted with the spirit of assassination, dark and fearful crimes committed within the limits of this Territory, and of the greatest magnitude and of the most evil character have been perpetrated, and no known instance have the guilty parties been brought to the tribunal of justice.

The Mountain Meadow Massacre, The Parish, Potter, and Forbes murders, The assassination of Sergeant Pike on the main street of Salt Lake City, in broad daylight, were all committed with impunity and immunity from punishment, having no parallel elsewhere in the country.

Last Monday evening the community was astounded with the intelligence of another foul assassination committed on Theatre street, only a few steps east of Main street.

The man who was assassinated was known throughout Nevada, and more particularly at Austin and Reese River, as one of the best and most reliable citizen of that State, and was engaged in the freighting business between this place and Reese River. His conduct, while there, was that of a good, quiet, peaceable citizen, violating no law of the land, interfering in no way with the legitimate business of any person, and honored and respected by all who knew him.

A few days ago he was lawfully joined in marriage, by Judge McCurdy, one of Associate Judges of the United States Courts in and for this Territory—to a lady of this city, who was claimed by the Mormon leaders as the wife in Polygamy of a Mormon, now absent on a foreign mission. This lady by the sanction of law, and by the authority of one of the highest legal officers of the Territory, abandoned the false position in which she had been placed, and legally joined herself in marriage with Squire Brassfield. Charges of resisting the police on the night of his marriage were instituted against him, and his wedding night was passed in one of the cells of the city prison—the following day he was arrested on a warrant issued by the Probate Court, and every evidence tended to show that the intention was to harass him in every possible way. Brassfield, conscious of having done no wrong, quietly went into court with his counsel, gave the bonds required of him and in every respect conformed to every requirement of the courts in the premises.

In the meantime, the lady fearing that efforts would be made to take her children from her, caused a writ of habeas corpus to be issued from the United States Court for purpose of bringing her children before it and obtaining a decision whether she was entitled to the custody of them or not. That writ was issued last Friday, returnable and triable before Judge McCurdy. The full particulars of this portion of the case will be found in another column. This issue brought up at once the question of Polygamy and its position under the law. By request of the opposing counsel, the hearing was postponed from time to time until Monday evening April 2d, 1906. Mr. Brassfield was in Court with the counsel for himself and wife. It was then and there announced to the Court by Judge Snow that the case in issue involved the legal and constitutional right of Polygamy. That he thought it better to so state the case in plain words—for which we give him full credit. He did not appear at all desirous of evading the issue. Additional time being required, and by mutual consent of both counsel, the case was further postponed until 10 a. m. this morning, and the Court adjourned. Within half an hour thereafter Brassfield, when within a few steps of the hotel where he resided, and when in company of the United States Marshal, was shot in the back, and within one hour from the time he left the Court-house he was lying on his bed—a dead man—thus adding one more link to the already long list of dark and bloody crimes now disgracing the history of Utah and awaiting the advent of retributive justice.

In the Probate Court yesterday morning Judge Smith charged the Grand Jury to spare no effort to discover the assassin, remarking that it would be very singular indeed if it failed to detect the guilty party. Many stories are afloat concerning the assassination—the conduct of the police on the occasion—the direction in which the assassin ran—and the place where he sought concealment—which we refrain from publishing at this time, preferring to wait and ascertain what action will be taken by the civil authorities. Circumstances have directed suspicion, which we do not just now choose to state—for we do not desire to publish any item which may give the guilty party any advantage or obstruct the efforts of the civil authorities to secure him.

We cannot close this hastily written article without referring to the published opinion of certain Mormons in this city, that Brassfield was justly punished by death, and that the balance of the Gentiles here would be served in the same way if they were not careful. No man can guard against an assassin who steals up behind him and shoots or stabs him unto death. Such conduct may meet the approval of certain men, but those who do approve such conduct are unworthy of citizenship with these people, and would commit the same crime if they had a chance to do so. It is to be hoped that no effort will be spared by the people of this community to detect the assassin of Brassfield and bring him to justice.

THE SHOOTING OF LIEUT. DECHEN.— At about 9 o'clock this morning, Lieut. Dechen, 6th U. S., the acting Provost Marshal of the District, while going from the Guard House to his office, on Larimer st., he was approached by an unknown man, who without any warning discharged a pistol at him; this shot missed, when the Lieutenant drew a Derringer and fired; the would be assassin again fired, approaching so near as to turn the clothes; the ball passing through the bowels and lodging near the spine. He then ran down E st., and made his escape. Lieutenant Dechen is a very efficient officer, and the physicians in attendance having very little hope of his recovery. —Denver News, March 23d.

GENERAL'S DEATH.—The New York Tribune, of February 17th, says:
"Major Generals are quite plenty on our streets. Roosevelt walks up and down Broadway as meek as if General Grant had kicked him. Gordon Granger dashes about with many airs; Fitz-henry Warren looks gruff, Sherman-ish, and stern as an old warrior, as he is; Hooker is quite sick; Fredk (or Fred) Steele is here, his reddish beard growing gray quieted—he is often mistaken for the lamented Lyon; Sweeney, who left his right arm in Mexico, can daily be seen at the Astor, dinner table, and shows a great proclivity for the society of certain Bohemians who feed there.
Sweeney is a typo, and is on leave of absence from the War Department to fill the War Portfolio of the Fenians, his regiment in the regular army being commanded by the Lieutenant Colonel."

Where is the Protection?

It is becoming asserted that no more quiet city can be found anywhere than this one. Does the record of last Monday only substantiate this assertion? A quite peaceable citizen, respected by all who know him, is rudely assassinated.
He is shot in the back by a sneaking coward—killed at a time when he is on trial before the Probate Court of this county—obeying to the letter every requirement of that Court. A simple draak is promptly arrested, imprisoned, fined and taught the majesty of law and municipal regulations, but an assassin can stand up behind a man, discharge a load of lead into his body—run across the street in presence of numerous citizens and Policemen, and escape.
Is this the way to afford peace and security to the residents of this city? It is expected that no efforts will be spared to secure the assassin of Brassfield—not withstanding it has been asserted in this city that he was justly killed. It is due to the honor and credit of this community that the assassin be punished, and we agree with the Judge of the Probate Court that it will be very strange indeed if he is not caught and brought to justice. Let the law be administered alike to the common and the noble. The present will not admit of any distinction. —S. F. News Letter.

slightly Roman, blue eyes, and very square shoulders. He was accompanied by Mr. J. I. Brannan—one of his Pow-wells near the Red Buttes beyond Lar-mie. Mr. Brannan expects also to re-

THE WHITE HOUSE.—A day or two ago, three respectively dressed women were detected at the Executive Mansion clipping pieces from the window curtains.
They were arrested and taken to the station house. Such thefts have been of such frequent occurrence that an officer is constantly in attendance to restrain these mendacious hunters. Workmen have commenced removing the paper from the walls of the Executive Department for the purpose of putting on new paper.
Five different layers of paper have been found. That next the wall was a very heavy velvet paper, put on during President Madison's administration. The new paper is of a violet color, and will render the apartment much more pleasant than it was with the dark green, now being stripped off. It is no wonder the place is unhealthy. The necessary repairs, refitting, re-carpeting, re-furnishing, etc., are expected to be completed by the early part of next month. —S. F. News Let-

TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND RHYMES.
In the course of a speech delivered at the Burns Club annual dinner at Edinburgh recently, Professor Masson, who proposed the toast "The Poets of Scotland," said he had made a calculation that probably in the British Islands at the present moment there are two hundred thousand people writing verses.
[Laughter.] "I stick to two hundred thousand exactly. I cannot give you the date, on which I make my calculations, but I satisfied myself at the moment when I made them. And they are not only making verses, but I assure you making verses which would have attained a reputation had they been written in the last century. The quantity of verses which is being produced in English and Irish vicarages, in Scotch manse, and in all sorts of places, is utterly enormous.
I do not think that it is any objection to literature that it is becoming voluminous, and that its practitioners are becoming numerous. Perhaps in some future time the distinction of a man will be—and he will be pointed out on the streets as a distinguished man—that he has not written a book." [Laughter.]

LITERARY MARRIAGES.—Are prejudices against marriages with poets, novelists, and writers generally built on any ground of reason? You remember how unhappy was Byron's marriage? Shelley's was a failure. Milton's three marriages were all unhappy. Campbell's wife watched every way. What an angelic patience Tom Moore's wife possessed!
How often must her heart have been wringing by her husband as well as her children? You know how unfortunately all turned out. Sir Edward Bulwer Lytton is separated from his wife. Mrs.
Norton has quitted her husband. Mrs.
Fanny Kemble has left hers. Rogers, Pope, Hunt and Hunt and Hunt remained bachelors. Coleridge left his wife to starve. Addison married, and found consolation only in the bottle; and by a strange coincidence, Lord Stowell (so closely resembling Addison in many particulars) lived happy until late in life, when he married a lady bearing the same title as the woman who poisoned Addison's years. Swift never married. Bol-ingbroke quarreled and parted from his wife. Neither Pitt nor Fox were married. Irving was unmarried. Both of Sheridan's marriages were unhappy.
Shakespeare's will is supposed to exhibit evidence of an unhappy marriage.

Land Ho!

Gold closed at 4 p. m. yesterday at 130 1/2. The premium, therefore, is just one-sixth of what it was in the darkest days of the panic of our great War. In other words, we have already traversed five-sixths of the way from our worst estate back to perfect solvency.

Are we such cowards that we shall now shrink back into hopeless insolvency, when it is but a little way forward to Resumption?

Who has suffered unjustly by the progress we have made? What department of useful industry has been crippled?
What trade has been deprived of work? and beyond? What valuable product has been so reduced in price that it can no longer be produced without loss? Wherein has the Currency been unduly, perniciously contracted?
Speak out!

Give the Secretary ample power to fund his demand and short-time obligations, and we can move right on to Special Payments. And then every greenback and bank note will be worth its face in gold, and gold-gambling will be one of the lost arts. And then our Two Hundred Millions and over of specie will be Currency; whereas, it now is not. Nobody will hoard gold for duties or for speculation, because there will be no motive to do so. Our banks must keep a tight rein on importation, so as not to be drained of their coin to pay balances against us in Europe.

Courage, friends! there is land ahead!
